ANDOVER
BARONS

O.K., that's all fine and dandy, but what IS the time of your life? Well, so far in our long and fruitful lives, it probably is the time we've spent at Bloomfield Hills Andover Senior High School. Now, none of us are ready to jump out of our chair, arms flung high into the air, and admit that, yes, we've had a BLAST during these years at Andover. But stop a minute or two, and think back on your life. When have you had a better time? Kindergarten? Well, maybe that's because we didn't have homework or our classes consisted of cutting, pasting and coloring. . . .

THE TIME OF YOUR LIFE: Basically it's all the fun, crazy, zany and obnoxious things we've done with our friends. Of course, there were some bad times, but we ignore them 'cause it just doesn't rain in Bloomfield Hills. Times like running around the neighborhood at 3:00 in the morning in pjs, overnight float parties, and skipping class to go out for lunch.

While Seniors move on to become little fishes in a big sea, the Juniors become big fishes in a little sea. The Sophomores are headed into their toughest year and the Freshmen—well, they're just glad to be moving up to the Sophomore positions. But through all this, we have to admit, so far, Andover has been the place we've had the time of our lives.
— Kelly Nelson

Vain hopes and ambitions create foundations for our lives.

Battles of truth, of right and wrong rage amidst the border of our age.

Youth thrives on idealism giving us
sane minds.

Peace is impossi-

Our assimilable

It will be ...

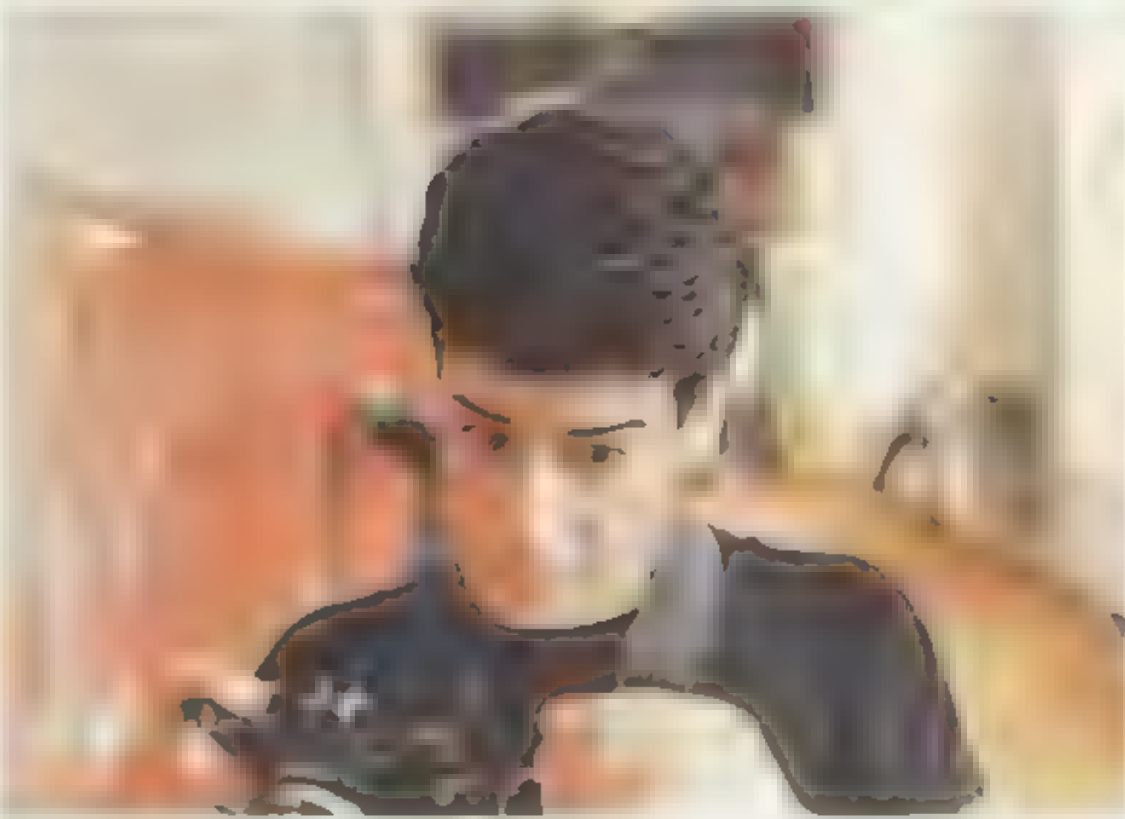

It must be ...

Familiar faces, forgotten

A smile passes full of Uncertainty as we prepare for
A future outside

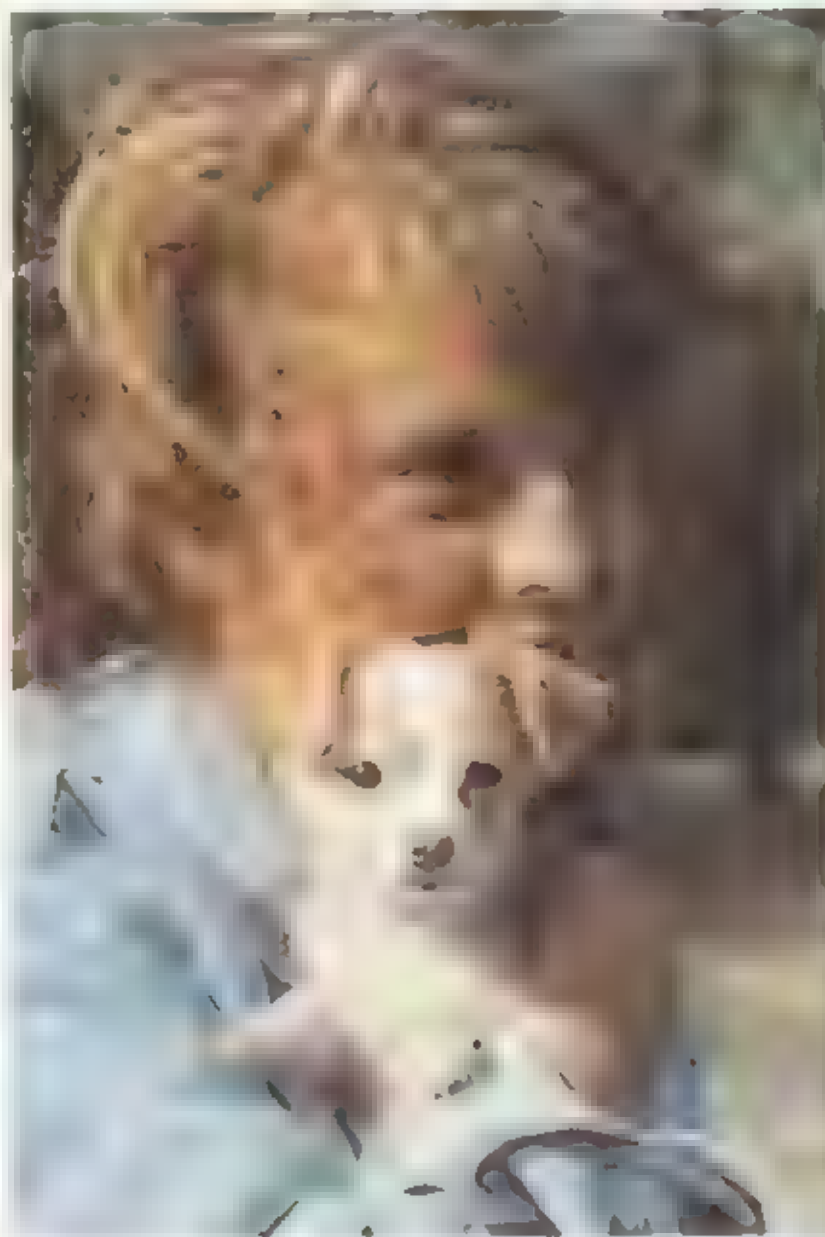

How big a role

Chance play?
— Sree
Nallamothe

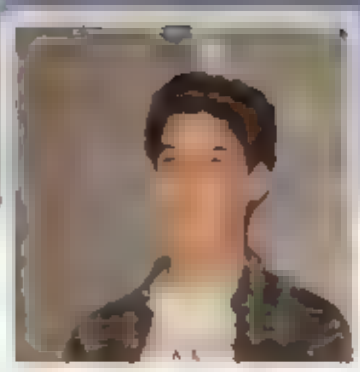

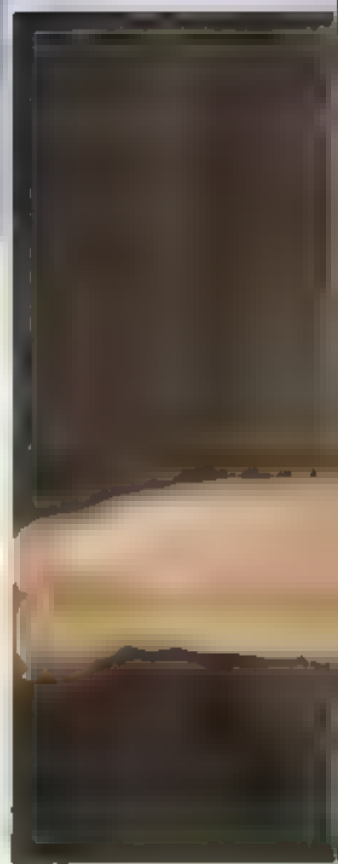

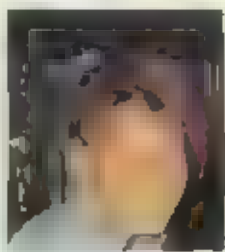

Suspended in definite time, we search for ourselves through faintly lighted hallways. We silently acknowledge a sense of freedom within these imprisoning walls of high school. With homework as an excuse, our minds avoid dwelling in reality. Our existence thrives upon idealistic visions of outrageous dreams we need not justify ...

We'll find a time to think, a time to dream, and a time to be. In this time, we face authority and fear as one; we exper-and we believe in friendship and find strength.

Andover's faculty: unique people each with a different personality all united to accomplish one task — teach. The knowledge a person would gain by just talking to each of them for fifteen minutes would be tremendous. We learn from them, laugh with them, hate them at times and look up to them as our friends. They teach us to be scientists, mathematicians, journalists, philosophers, and good caring people. They give us more than just knowledge. They give us a part of themselves — their thoughts and opinions, their criticism, their praise and their understanding.

Some of them are funny, some are serious, some are more lenient than others, and some are more enjoyable to be with than others. They all must like teenagers or why would they spend so much time in a high school? Do they want to feel younger by being around a younger generation or do they just want to be with us? Every student who walks through Andover halls may not be a sweet angel. The faculty understands this very well. The faculty may yell, scream, and throw a fit because the students do not always give them their 100% attention, but the faculty should understand one thought. Andover students may not always give them the attention and respect that they deserve, and they may not show how much they appreciate and care about all that the teachers are doing for them, but the students do care. No matter what kind of teacher the person is — funny, serious, cruel, or nice — Andover students will never forget them, and they all say, "Thank You."

and Administrators

A President, a Vice-President, a Secretary, a Treasurer . . . so far it sounds like the members of Andover's class office, doesn't it? But this team also has three hard-working Trustees, a Deputy Superintendent, and a Superintendent. Yes, we're talking about the Board of Education. Most Andover students have never met this board, even though it does not go unnoticed. It is usually listed in Andover Music and Sports programs, the "Andover Action," and most other publications of Bloomfield Hills Schools. What exactly do the people across the street from us do? Well, they negotiate improvements to benefit the schools (such as the addition of cable television this year), listen to the parents' praise and complaints, and implement dynamic curriculum changes. All Bloomfield Hills Schools can depend upon their Board of Education for superb educational service. Their main focus is, however, establishing school policies. These policies allow our school system to become more effective in its main goal: educating. The Board of Education, along with the District Administration, provides the foundation for our school. Andover's Administrators, another group of dedicated people, spend most of their time making sure that the school and functions connected with it, runs smoothly. They solve problems and provide guidance for the school. Their wish to make Andover the best it can be motivates them to develop new ideas such as in-school suspension. Without them Andover would be reduced to chaos. We should all express our warm thanks and gratitude to the Board and Administration for their concern and dedication toward our education.

"It's the greatest time of your lives, Seniors, and I hope that our teaching you in grades 9-12 will have prepared you for a life as well as making each of you a better person."

*Mr. John Toma
Principal*

"As our first Freshmen class to spend four years at Andover, I hope your memories are full of wonderful times with friends, class and activities."

*Mrs. Janette Gwinn
Vice-Principal*

"It has really been a pleasure working with students who are sincerely interested in their education, and still take the time to be involved in numerous athletic and co-curricular activities."

*Dr. David Symington
Vice-Principal*

Counselors and Secretaries

We asked the counselors, some of our favorite people, to express their feelings on Andover students and to tell us a little bit about themselves. Their responses vary from sincere wishes for their students future success to reflections on their past years in education.

Mr. Ceremuga

Every class has its own personality. It is as if all 348 seniors are melted into one person. This year's class I would characterize as a positive, ambitious and pleasant person. This senior class is a pleasure to be around. I will be sorry to see them leave.

Dr. Johnson:

Dr. Johnson has been working at Andover as a counselor for 13 years and he says, "I enjoy working just as much now as I did 13 years ago." He says that Andover is a wonderful school with a "super group of kids." He enjoys visitations from the former graduated students and likes seeing how much they have changed since their years at Andover. He enjoys kids tremendously and enjoys working with them everyday.

Ms. King

I have been in education from elementary to junior high school and, then, to the university level. When I finally wound my way back to Michigan and Bloomfield Hills, I knew that I had found the BEST of all worlds. There is nothing better than working with Andover High School students and staff. I appreciate the ability, spirit, creativity and humor I find at every turn. Thanks, Andover, I love being here!

Ms. Posch

This is my 10th year working for Bloomfield Hills Schools. I have been here at Andover for eight years. I am enjoying this school year tremendously. I feel I have a wonderful group of seniors in my alphabetical section. I know I don't know everything about all of them, but there are many seniors that I've come to know quite well. I truly care about all of them and wish them well. Andover is a great place and I'm glad to be a part of it.

Mr. Wolfe

Having spent 25 years at Andover — as a student, teacher, and counselor/supervisor — hopefully indicates how much I care about the school and especially the students with whom I have worked over the years. It is so important for teachers and administrators to be accessible to students, to provide answers and set moral and academic examples for them, and to enforce discipline in a firm, fair, and caring manner. It has always been such a pleasure to work with students who care about their future and to help create a future for those who don't know how Andover's administration consists of a principal, two vice-principals, and five wonderful counselors, all of which Andover students could not live without. Our counselors take care of minute problems like changing a class to more important and tedious problems such as sending out senior college applications, all solved without fail. Besides these, each of our counselors has mastered a field making them unique in their own way. Mr. Martin Ceremuga deals with the career center. Dr. Thomas Johnson is our one and only college coordinator. Ms. Janet King is in charge of the Special Education Department. Mrs. Ellen Posche is the public relations coordinator as well as the organizer for the "Andover Action". Mr. James Wolfe, our testing coordinator, arranges everything from the Sophomores taking the MEAP, Juniors taking the PSAT, to preparing students taking the SAT. Andover is proud of them all and we are glad to say, "Thanks for being with us"

Andover has a team which is almost as popular as the Varsity Football Team and just as enthusiastic and dedicated towards their work. Andover secretaries are the finest secretaries any high school can have. They work together to accomplish all tasks. They answer phones, write passes, type memos and agendas. There are secretaries working in the counseling office, the main office, and the attendance office. Whatever they do or wherever they work, they always set a placid atmosphere

English

Andover students experience literature and writing from three-paragraph essays to Shakespearean sonnets, from "A Modest Proposal," to The Catcher In The Rye. The English Department emphasizes literature and writing courses to develop the students' understanding of the language and promotes writing contests sponsored by the "Detroit Free Press" and Wayne State University. The Andover English Department presents a variety of classes for the different interests and abilities of Andover students.

Business, Computers

Business: 1. What one does for a living. 2. What one has a right or duty to do. 3. A matter or affair. 4. The buying and selling of goods and services; commerce, trade. 5. A place where things are made or sold.

As one can see, Business is defined in many ways, and at Andover it is taught in many ways. Andover's Business Department teaches typing, accounting, shorthand, economics, and other business-related activities. Business students learn aspects of merchandising and marketing, and a few advance to work in the Baron Village Shop for business credit. One business credit is required for graduation, and Andover students have no problem choosing business classes from the wide variety offered.

Math

Math: the group of sciences using numbers and symbols in dealing with the relationships and measurements of amounts and forms

Math is one of the oldest forms of the sciences which is constantly used. From the abacus to the scientific calculators to number problems, accuracy today can be easier achieved. The math teachers involve their students in many activities apart from learning and comprehending numbers and symbols, such as the traditional Michigan Math Prize Competition. Senior students fascinated with the world without words join the Calculus Club to further enhance their knowledge.

Social Studies

U.S. History, psychology, philosophy, European History and American Government are only a small fraction of the many social studies classes offered at Andover. Educational and entertaining, social studies classes give one a variety of knowledge. Many classes take field trips to broaden their view on the subjects they are studying. They all read about interesting, fascinating events and facts, and the teachers always present history and news in an exciting manner. Social Studies is an essential part of a well rounded education.

Phys. Ed., Home Ec.

Physical Education is an important part of high school, training one physically as well as mentally. A CPR course, a  $1\frac{1}{2}$  mile run, and a  $\frac{1}{4}$  mile swim are required for graduation as well as  $1\frac{1}{2}$  more credits of Physical Education. These classes are strenuous, demanding and rewarding.

Home Economics at Andover gives students the opportunity to learn the fundamentals of sewing and cooking. The Home Economics department provides many courses ranging from Interior Decorating to the BVI as well.

Communications, Art, Music and Drama

Our communications teachers at Andover try and give the most realistic experience to our students, maybe they are teaching the next Dan Rathers or Case Kasum

Here at Andover art teachers try to help students bring out their utmost talents in all medias

The Andover Music Department performed everything from sweet serene classical pieces to vibrant, bouncy rock and roll. The Big Bad Baron Marching Band performed at half-time performances. And the symphonic and concert bands held their own concerts

The Drama Department presented two sensational plays this year. In November they staged, "You Can't Take It With You," directed by Mark Honevman; in the spring, Andover's Music and Drama Department presented "My Fair Lady" under the direction of Dr. Sima

Foreign Language

Andover has eight very nice, talented, special teachers who all have something in common — being foreign language teachers. All foreign language students improve their English by learning another language. Unfortunately, the majority of Andover students are enrolled in French and Spanish classes where as only a handful learn German and Latin. Learning a foreign language is a merit for anyone, and Andover has eight of the finest teachers to learn from

Nature Center

The E.L. Johnson Nature Center, located on Franklin Road, is a home to many animals such as deer and squirrels. It is place where many students go to learn about nature and its relations with man. Andover students are not the only students to visit the nature center. Much of the public tour the grounds to learn, have a good time and enjoy the scenery.

Support Staff

Few people realize the role the support staff plays in our school. They are responsible for the school's physical appearance as well as the food the students are served. We have two parking lot attendants monitoring the students' cars as well as keeping the lot functioning. Our custodial staff makes sure that the school remains pleasant and the lunch staff makes sure that the students' meals are well-balanced and delicious. Without these people and their hard work, Andover would not function very well.

Every school has an assistant principal, but none have one like Andrew's Dr. Symington. As assistant principal, Dr. Symington's list of administrative duties runs long. Under his guidance, athletic assembles and banquets, Senior Commencement and the Senior Party are made possible. Dr. Symington assists Mr. Torma in staff evaluations as well as supervision. Dr. Symington also works with student government, the science and physical education departments, and the police department. These duties listed are only a fraction of those Dr. Symington must perform and attend to on a daily basis. We applaud his excel-

Academics: A major part of a student's life. For some it is the only part of their high school lives, but biology, algebra, and English are not the only reasons kids go to school. Every high school differs from one another, but what makes Andover unique is the involvement and the way students present themselves here. The life of a student from Freshman Orientation to Graduation matures and flourishes. The students learn about the many qualities in life as well as himself/herself. Homecoming activities, band, choir, foreign language clubs, student leadership and National Honor Society are all parts which make a student a separate entity.

If all teenagers did the same things, life would be extremely boring. Andover joins everyone's talents to accomplish all feats. Andover has actors and actresses for school plays, jocks for sports and musicians for concerts. The variety performed is tremendous. A student's life here at Andover can't be a waste of time of his/her life.

Co-op

The Co-op program became a part of the Andover curriculum in 1963. It was introduced by Mrs. Betty Dugan so that the students could "earn" and "learn" at the same time. The enrollment was small at first, but as the student body became aware of the opportunities available more and more opted for the course so that they could gain exposure to possible careers. Monthly breakfasts were held so that speakers could enlighten students on particular areas of employment. An annual employer-employee banquet was held so that Co-ops could show their appreciation to their bosses for the opportunity to work for them. There were many young men and women in the program, students were required to work a minimum of fifteen hours a week. With seventy-five percent of the students continuing their jobs through the summer, the program's success increases every year.

On the bottom right hand corner is Deb Walker, Andover's first co-op student. At the top right hand corner is Ms. Betty Dugan at the 1967 Co-op Christmas party. # Sadie Hawkins

I can't ask him! What if he says no! Well, how does it feel girls? Each year Sadie Hawkins gives girls a chance to ask their favorite guy to spend Valentine's Day with them; it also gives them a chance to see romance from the opposite side. This year couples danced amidst heart-shaped balloons, to the latest music from WBFH. Can you think of a better way to spend Valentine's Day?

WBFH

This year WBFH is celebrating its 10th year of broadcasting. The FM radio station went over the air October 1, 1976. Over the years, the station has made many physical improvements to the studios located in the southeast wing of Andover. Mr. Pete Bowers has been the manager since day one and has seen the station grow as an educational experience for students in all grades. Hundreds of WBFH staff students have graced the Bloomfield air-waves bringing listeners good music, local news, community information and sports. WBFH DJs have provided music and lights for school dances, the MDA Superdance and the Radio Marathon Broadcast for the March of Dimes. Quite a few WBFH graduates have continued their radio participation in college and some have pursued careers in broadcasting working at commercial and t.v. stations. WBFH is proud of its decade-long service to the community and looks forward to another ten years of providing hands-on experience to the DJs of tomorrow.

What do these numbers have in common? No, they are not the measurements of weird-looking females. They are the keys to a student's locker, his home away from home.

A locker is more than just a place to leave one's books. It is a statement of a student's identity. Lockers can be dressed up with mirrors, pictures, and pretty posters, or dressed down with last week's egg salad and last year's gym socks. They are dressing rooms to primp and preen, or storage areas to stash little unwanted freshmen. Locker shelves covered in color-coordinated contact paper, magnetic memo pads, and books lined up in order of decreasing size are the signs of a neat freak. On the other hand, those less careful with the school's precious property tend to throw their books in their lockers until opening them becomes a health hazard.

Students even show their quirks through the way they remove their locks. Athletes tend to throw their locks heavily into the top shelf while the dreamers leave them on the handles. The more daring types don't bother with a lock at all. Even with their ability to greatly enhance the smell of a tuna fish sandwich in the course of the year, lockers provide a cornerstone of high school life.

Do you know your soc. security number?

There are no known isotopes of the element with the atomic number of
A. 20 B. 48 C. 56 D. 84

Does this question look familiar? If it don't now, it will by the time you graduate. It is a typical problem from the SAT or ACT. By the end of their high school careers almost everyone will have taken these tests at least once. Even though they are frequently called unfair and biased, these tests comprise a major part of the college acceptance criteria. They each have their own grading scale, and they both need a dreaded #2 pencil. Like all rites of passage, they mark a point, where the student decides where he will be in the future—at least for the next four or five years. In 20 years, won't it be nice to know that you survived?

Attention: cafeterias can damage your health

There are many things for a freshman to watch out for in the Andover cafeteria. Let's face it, the BVI is an experience all its own. Before choosing a seat, a freshman should check above him for pickles, on the seat for possible spilled Coke, and to the side for smeared mustard on the walls. Next he must decide if the burritos are really as gross as they look, and if a burger would be any better. Are the fries good today? If he eats the onion rings, will he blow his 6th hour class away with his breath? Also, is it cool to put cream cheese on a bagel? By the time he has decided what to get, the line has become as long as the line at Bloomingdale's on the day after Christmas. After he finally arrived back at his table, he discovers that it has been overrun by Seniors whose mischievous smiles suggest that a food fight is imminent. Maybe he should have spent his lunch hour in the library.

Revolution?

No, this was not a communist organization designed to overthrow democracy in a Bolshevik revolution. Although they did plant spies in the French and Spanish clubs, their main goal was to learn about Russian culture, aside from political views. After naming a Czar and choosing Russian names, they enhanced their vocabulary with such Russian words as "Da" and their palate with a Russian dinner. Overall the comrades enjoyed an interesting cultural experience.

Uncommon Friends

The definition of siblings is two or more people sharing one common parent. Not only do siblings share at least one parent, they may also share many other things: a bathroom, a home, a car, clothes, a bedroom, and maybe even a friendship. How would you like to share some of these things and then also have to share Andover's halls? Here are a few brothers and sisters sharing our school. Features on the top left are Becky and Joe Lash, and Teresa and Grace Nam. On the bottom left are Jessica and JoAnne Purtan and Courtney and Katie Robbins. On the top right are Kirk and Andre Guanco, in the center right are Matt and Travis Green, and on the bottom right are Cory and Trisha Clarke.

Stand By Me

Ten years after graduation as you rummage through a trunk of high school mementos — a senior yearbook, half a football ticket, pictures from the prom, report cards from your freshman year — you will not remember your sophomore grade point average, your physic teacher's name, or your locker combination. You will, remember, as many say, the greatest part of high school: the friends that were made over the years. Friends are people with whom you shared your innermost feelings and thoughts, those people who spent not only the good times with you, but also endured the bad. Friends are the people that make school a little more bearable and a lot more fun.

You can't take it with you

This year's fall play, "You Can't Take It With You," was a humorous account of two families trying to resolve their differences so that their two children could get married and be happy. The director this year, Mr. Mark Honeyman, thoroughly enjoyed doing this production. He was blessed with a wonderful cast and very cooperative techies. He said he cherished every moment of working with these young people." Featured below are some of the memorable scenes from "You Can't Take It With You." Top left is Marty Kaufman, and Jill Pippel portraying their roles as Tony and Alice. Top right is Debbie Moretsky as Gay Wellington. To the middle left are the techies and to the right, the cast picture. At the bottom left are Marty Haenick and Tony Allen as G-men. In the center is Scott Arciniegas and Wendy Shanker as Mr. and Mrs. Sycamore and at the right, the Sycamore family

Class elections

On September 26, 1986, elections were held for class officers. After intense, often humorous campaigns, the day of truth arrived. Each candidate made promises in varying ways. After listening closely to each promise and debating the best ideas, each member of the student body set out to select his or her favorite candidate. The votes were counted and these were the people elected to guide each class. Featured on the top left are the freshman class officers, Andy Shepak, Betty Choi, Marni Lustig, Rachel Feldstein, and their supervisors, Ms. King and Mr. Okuniewski. On the top right are the sophomore class officers, Cheryl Wirthlin, Robyn Lash, Mike Dorfman, David Kri- van, and their advisor Mr. Heymoss. On the bottom left are the junior class officers, Alberto Arriola, Laura Freedman, Matt Chosid, Erika, Lansky, and their advisor, Mr. Honeyman. The senior officers are featured at bottom right, Joe Lash, Amy Proctor, Jeff Harrison, and Stephenie Kane. Insets are their Advisor Mr. Brouhard and senior class president Jeff Wirthlin.

A la mode

Est-ce que vous êtes à la mode? Are you in style? In the 50's, it was poodle skirts and bobby socks. In the 60's it was short skirts and long hair. The 70's brought in the look of bell bottoms, pointed collars, and sideburns. Twenty years from now, what will people say about the 80's fashion? A la mode-vive le difference!

F R E S

Ninth graders, otherwise known as Freshmen, are constantly teased by the upperclassmen and are not exactly the faculty's favorites, but they are a wonderful bunch of kids even if they are the youngest. They are a vivacious group actively involved in school trying to blend in with the atmosphere while adjusting themselves to high school life. They have shown their school spirit by participating in Homecoming activities and getting involved with the many clubs.

Freshmen started off in September hiding in lockers avoiding the hallways, afraid of being stepped on by the Seniors. By end of November, they started becoming more confident and "at home" at Andover. They struggled through mid-terms and DAT testing, and many of them looked forward to a better start with second semester. Second semester seemed easier than the first now that they knew the teachers' expectations and test routines and what one can do to make homework simpler. They knew what classes they could scam out of and what classes they have to put all their energy into to receive decent grades. They got used to being pushed back in the lunchline like everywhere else, and by the end of the year finals did not seem too frightening anymore. Many of them look back and laugh at themselves for the many mistakes they made during the year which at the time looked like a catastrophe. They have acquired much confidence, courage and bravery since then, and are all ready to challenge their Sophomore year.

Academics are not the only parts involved with school life. For an exciting, adventurous, fun, yet, hard-working life, one has to be involved with clubs. What would the world be without music? Andover music students could not live without it. They practice long hours benefiting themselves and the school and are always rewarded at the end by their applauding peers. Foreign language clubs, science and math clubs, NHS and the Shield are not here at Andover for the teachers and administrators, but for the students to enjoy and learn from. They are here to benefit from and to help others. What would you be holding right now if it wasn't got the yearbook staff? Aren't you glad Andover has clubs?

National Honor Society

The National Honor Society selects a new group of students each year based upon their leadership and academic performances. The society consists of seniors who have achieved a G.P.A of 3.5 or above. Led by Mrs. Noetzold, Mrs. Kulhavi, President Eleanor Sun, Vice-President Karin Yoo, Treasurer Becky Cutting, Secretary Toni Walsh, and secretary Nora Bucher, the NHS promoted activities which benefitted the school and community. NHS ushered at Open House and College Night, and planned a Valentine's Day party for the Mature Minglers. NHS also tutored elementary and middle school children in biology, algebra, foreign language and English. These dedicated students met the third Tuesday of every month at 7:00 a.m. Andover is proud of all its National Honor Society members.

Get involved in Student Leadership

Student Leadership consisted of 27 dedicated students this year all raising money, helping charities and sponsoring dances to benefit the school and the community. President Rob Goldman, Vice-President Brian Satovsky and Treasurer Marty Belkin were involved in such events as the canned food drive and Fun Day. They met 5th hour every day organizing committees and coloring posters advertising the Turnabout Dance, the Daddy Daughter Dinner Dance and the MDA Superdance. Much praise should also be given to advisor Mr. Blair who is congratulated on another successful year along with the Student Leadership Members.

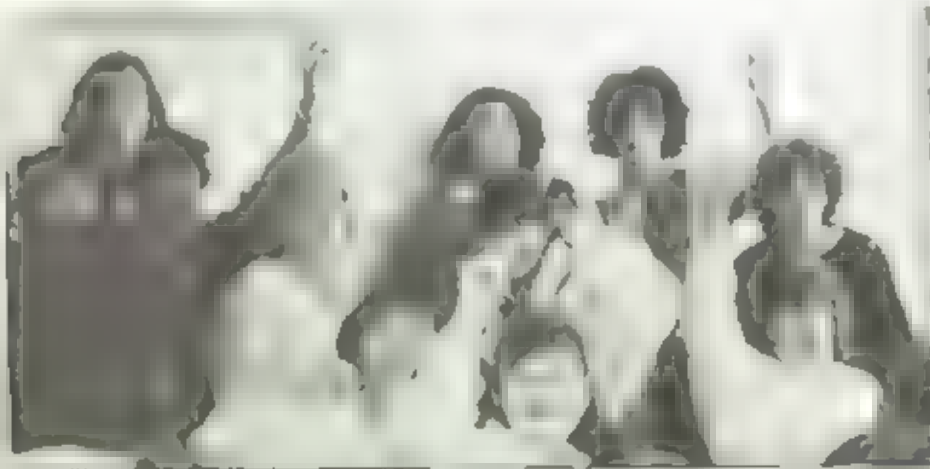

First row: S. Cohen, M. Belkin, B. Satovsky, B. Oleshansky, R. Goldman, S. Freedman. Second row: K. Nelson, L. Freedman, K. Bolen, K. Johnson, B. Choi, A. Shapack, R. Leitman. ## Get involved in French

Andover's French Club met twice a month to prepare for various activities. The club started off with a treasure hunt and then challenged the Spanish Club to a soccer game. Miss Vance, the club sponsor along with President Eleanor Sun, Vice President Caroline Chang, Treasurer Jennifer Bookstein, and Secretary Drew Peters, arranged all the activities and meetings. The club also studied French without using textbooks. They improved their French by watching a French film and watching a French play. Later in the year they had a French game night and had dinner which consisted of only French foods. Who says language classes are boring? The French Club could easily prove you wrong!

Lieberman, A. Arnola, T. Drelichman, L. Dickstein.

Get involved in Spanish

The Spanish Club, sponsored by Mrs. Gelman, met approximately every two weeks during the first semester planning projects to benefit themselves and the community. Their traditional progressive dinner and soccer game against the other foreign language clubs led the Spanish Club to the start of another successful year. This year's members contacted Hispanics in the community to improve their Spanish and to learn more about the culture. They also expanded their knowledge by setting up fundraisers which were provided throughout the year for scholarships pertaining to foreign travel and study. Congratulations Spanish Club for another fulfilled memorable year.

Shield

Get involved in

What special event happened during 7th hour this year? Gym, biology, algebra? Not quite — the talented members of the "Shield" staff wrote the masterpieces which were read by hundreds of people. The "Shield" was different this year for it actually looked like a professional newspaper one would buy at the news stand. This is because a creative adjustment was made this year. They printed the newspaper on real newsprint. Under the new sponsor, Vicki Najar, the hard-working, dedicated staff toiled long hours preparing up-to-date news involving Andover, the community, and the world. Chief Editor Kathy Rhew and the rest of the staff can be very proud of themselves and are commended for their outstanding work on the "Shield."

Care and share

Care and Share was begun in September and already has 107 members, who pay $1 a month dues that goes to those at the Focus: HOPE machinist school which helps train the unemployed. Tangible evidence of the club was the Thanksgiving food drive. Members helped coordinate students and staff donations at 11 of the 13 Hills district schools. They raised 235 complete turkey dinners which was calculated to feed 1,700 people. Deliveries were made to the Machinist School, Cass Corridor Youth Advocates, Lighthouse and Crossroads. Miss Charlene Price, the sponsor of Care and Share, said she was taken by surprise by the popularity of Care and Share, "I can't keep up with this. It's just snowballing."

Forensics

Sponsored by Patricia Clees, the Forensics Class this year competed against five other schools across the state. Categories ranged from storytelling to drama interpretation, from sales presentations to impromptu speeches. They met in January, February, March, and April, usually after school. They spent hours rehearsing for state and regional competitions, and as always, they carried on the tradition of a high standard of excellence.

Get involved in

The Big Bad Baron Marching Band, directed by Mr. Bob Ambrose, consists of 80 talented musicians. The Marching Band competed in many festivals, one being the District Marching Festival in which they received a Division I rating — the highest possible rating. They also entertained during half-time performances at home football games providing fans and parents with breathtaking shows. Color guard captains Becky Cutting and Julie Juip led the other eight guards who performed with the band providing beautiful colorful visual effects. Drum Majors were Lynn Candela, Steve Reap and Ann Pero. Congratulations to all of you on your sensational performances!

Chamber Singers

Mr. Bruce Snyder directed the Chamber Singers select ensemble, and changed 20 Andover juniors and seniors from ordinary musically talented students to professionals. The male and female singers sang everything from pieces of music dating back from the 1600's to current music written today. They averaged about fifty concerts this year performing at schools, churches, and festivals. With the ladies' beautiful red dresses and the men's handsome tuxedos, the Chamber Singers' appearance dazzled its audiences just as much as their voices did. Congratulations Chamber Singers on your jobs well done!

JILLS

The Jills

Andover's honor vocal ensemble, the Jills, under the direction of Mr. Bruce Snyder, began its 32nd year with a sensational start by singing the National Anthem at Cobo Hall for President Reagan. These ten juniors and seniors auditioned among many others for the honorable title of a Jill last spring. They were selected for performances on music theory, sight reading, bell ringing, blend and voice. Character, responsibility, and personality were other important aspects in choosing the ladies. They performed in places ranging from hospitals to international conventions entertaining crowds of 25 to 1400 people. Organized in 1955, this tradition of excellence still continues today. It is a privilege and great honor to be a Jill of Andover High School, and Andover wishes them nothing but the best in their musical careers.

Cantando Choir

Cantando choir is composed of first-year choir students, some of whom become members of the select ensemble, the Jills. These young talented girls begin their musical journey here in this class and may advance to higher places such as Concert Choir, Chamber Singers, and the Jills Ensemble. Under the direction of Mr. Bruce Snyder, these singers performed in the Winter Concert, a Pops Concert, sang in churches and even at Cobo Hall for President Reagan. These bright performers enjoyed entertaining people throughout the year and hope to entertain many more in years to come.

First Row: J. Janke, A. Munoz, J. Creger, H. Son, M. Pacis, J. Purtan. Second Row: M. Riccobono, L. Bass, E. Hughes, C. Gourvechon, S. Hague, B. Bryant.

Concert Choir

Concert choir! It's back! After a three year disappearance, it is better and stronger than ever, singing songs from Mozart to Whitney Houston. The members are comprised of freshmen, sophomores, juniors and seniors, both men and women, entertaining schools, churches, and colleges with their beautiful voices. This choir is primarily for students dealing with conflicts enabling them to join the selected ensembles. Under the direction of Mr. Bruce Snyder, Concert choir performed with the entire music department during the annual winter concert. They also entertained audiences in the spring with a pops concert as well as performing for judges during festival. Andover wishes these members the best of luck and is looking forward to seeing concert choir in years to come.

Stagecraft

Imagine going to a play and not seeing any lights or sets. Just a dark, empty stage. Now, put skilled people backstage to build the sets, set the lights, and control the sound. At Andover, the group of people that performs these tasks are the "Techies." Jason Milen, Technical Director, collaborates with an amazing crew that works swiftly and produces quality workmanship and backstage expertise during a production. This year they successfully produced You Can't Take It With You and My Fair Lady. An immense number of hours after school are spent on the set design, construction, and painting. Andover is fortunate to have such a skilled and dedicated group of people to perform the "not so glamorous" part of the theatre.

Orchestra

THE ANDOVER SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA, under the direction of Mrs. Alicia Jahnke, meets every school day fifth hour in the choir room. This energetic group of talented musicians is able to bring any piece of music alive with a wave of a baton. They have various concerts throughout the year, compete at the Orchestra Festival, and finish off the school year with the traditional Senior Concerto held at Kirk in the Hills.

First row M. Pasik, D. Alspector, J. Kim, N. Charboneau, D. Greenberg Second row E. Drelichman, Mrs. Jahnke, M. Pack, L. Kim, L. Cottle, I. Hom, P. Ho, G. Vander Geissen, H. Kim, A. Drelichman Third row C. Chung, C. Yun, G. Staples, J. Goldsmith, B. Rhew, B. Pacis, S. Doll

THE ANDOVER PHILHARMONIC ORCHESTRA, under the direction of Mrs. Jahnke, meets every day after school day sixth hour in the band room. This group performs with the Symphony Orchestra on many concerts while allowing a more individualistic approach to music.

Computers

Apple II, IBM, Mackintosh, the Commodore ... Computers! Computers are used everyday, everywhere — in houses, offices, schools, restaurants, and even in one's own car. Our fast moving highly technical world could not survive without them in our fast-paced life. Andover's Computer Club, sponsored by Donald Fraser, meets at least twice a month enhancing their knowledge in the field of computers. After School, computer students practice and design programs with computers. Outside Andover boundaries, these students participate in activities and computer contests. This team, usually placing third in competition, not only fiddle around with disks and terminals, but they also meet with guest speakers gaining valuable information helpful in their computer studies. Students also learn various computer languages. All in all the 1986-87 Computer Club had another enjoyable year.

Racquetball

Racquetball members had another funfilled year playing racquetball at the Franklin Racquetball Club. The athletic students made friends at the club, won and lost matches, and had a good time during the eight week season. Under supervision of Cathy King, the members met one or two times a week practicing, struggling and improving their talents on the court. In the winter, a special tournament was held among Andover players. Unfortunately the session ended after the tournament, but returning Andover players are looking forward to next year's events.

A Sophomore — what exactly is a Sophomore? A Freshman graduate? People who have one aspect in common — being fifteen years old, or is a Sophomore just there going through the year before they turn sweet sixteen? They are at a time in their lives where they put down the baseball and bat and spend more time discovering and trying new ways and ideas. They become more aware of the world and its happenings. These inquisitive creatures have learned to ask dozens of questions impatiently waiting for replies "What really are the Seven Wonders of the world?" "Is there really a Lockness Monster?" "Tell ma about the bombing of Hiroshima." The urge to satisfy their curiosity demands attention.

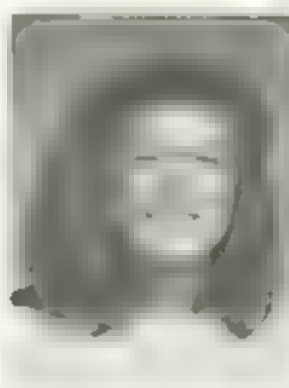

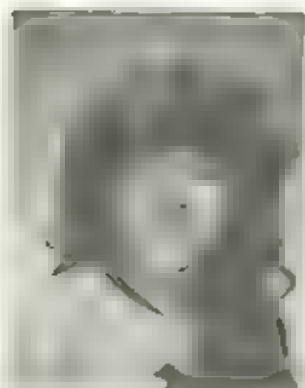

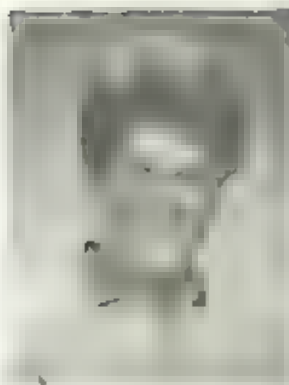

Andover Sophomores are a lively group. Most of them are lost between the Freshmen and the Juniors on a day-to-day basis, but they leave their mark when they want to be noticed. Sophomores put up a tough fight in Homecoming events and displayed themselves in their bright red T-shirts not to be lost between the Freshmen and the Juniors. They are actively involved in athletics and clubs and perform their best at everything they do. Andover is looking forward next year to an exuberant Junior class. The class of '89 has not failed yet, and Andover already knows that they will be victorious in years to come.

Just a reminder

About three years ago, the Students Against Drunk Driving program was started at Andover. The purpose of SADD is to stop drinking and driving; their motto is, "If you're going to drink, DON'T drive."

Right before Winter Holiday Break, SADD staged a mock accident to "shock" the students into the reality of drinking and driving. They had excellent cooperation from the Board Office and the Police and Fire departments of Bloomfield Hills.

Comments from the student-participants were great: One student participant said the mock accident really did frighten her because when the EMS bandaged her body, she lost her mobility. She could not even turn her head to see how her friends had fared in the accident. Another SADD student believed the mock accident would be a worthless exercise; but after participating in it, he felt differently and was convinced that there is indeed danger in drinking and driving.

J U N I

Juniors are not as childish as Sophomores and Freshmen nor are they as sophisticated as Seniors. They lie somewhere in between, caught in the middle. They are too young for college applications yet they are too old for the MEAP. Where exactly do Juniors stand? They are the ones who unite the school body. Usually they are the ones receiving the biggest hassle from Andover faculty and students. There are jobs Seniors will not simply do because they are "Seniors" and the underclassmen simply cannot do. This leaves the Juniors. At this age, Juniors are ready to explore new beginnings, face more challenges and learn new ideas. It is a stage in life where they truly discover themselves.

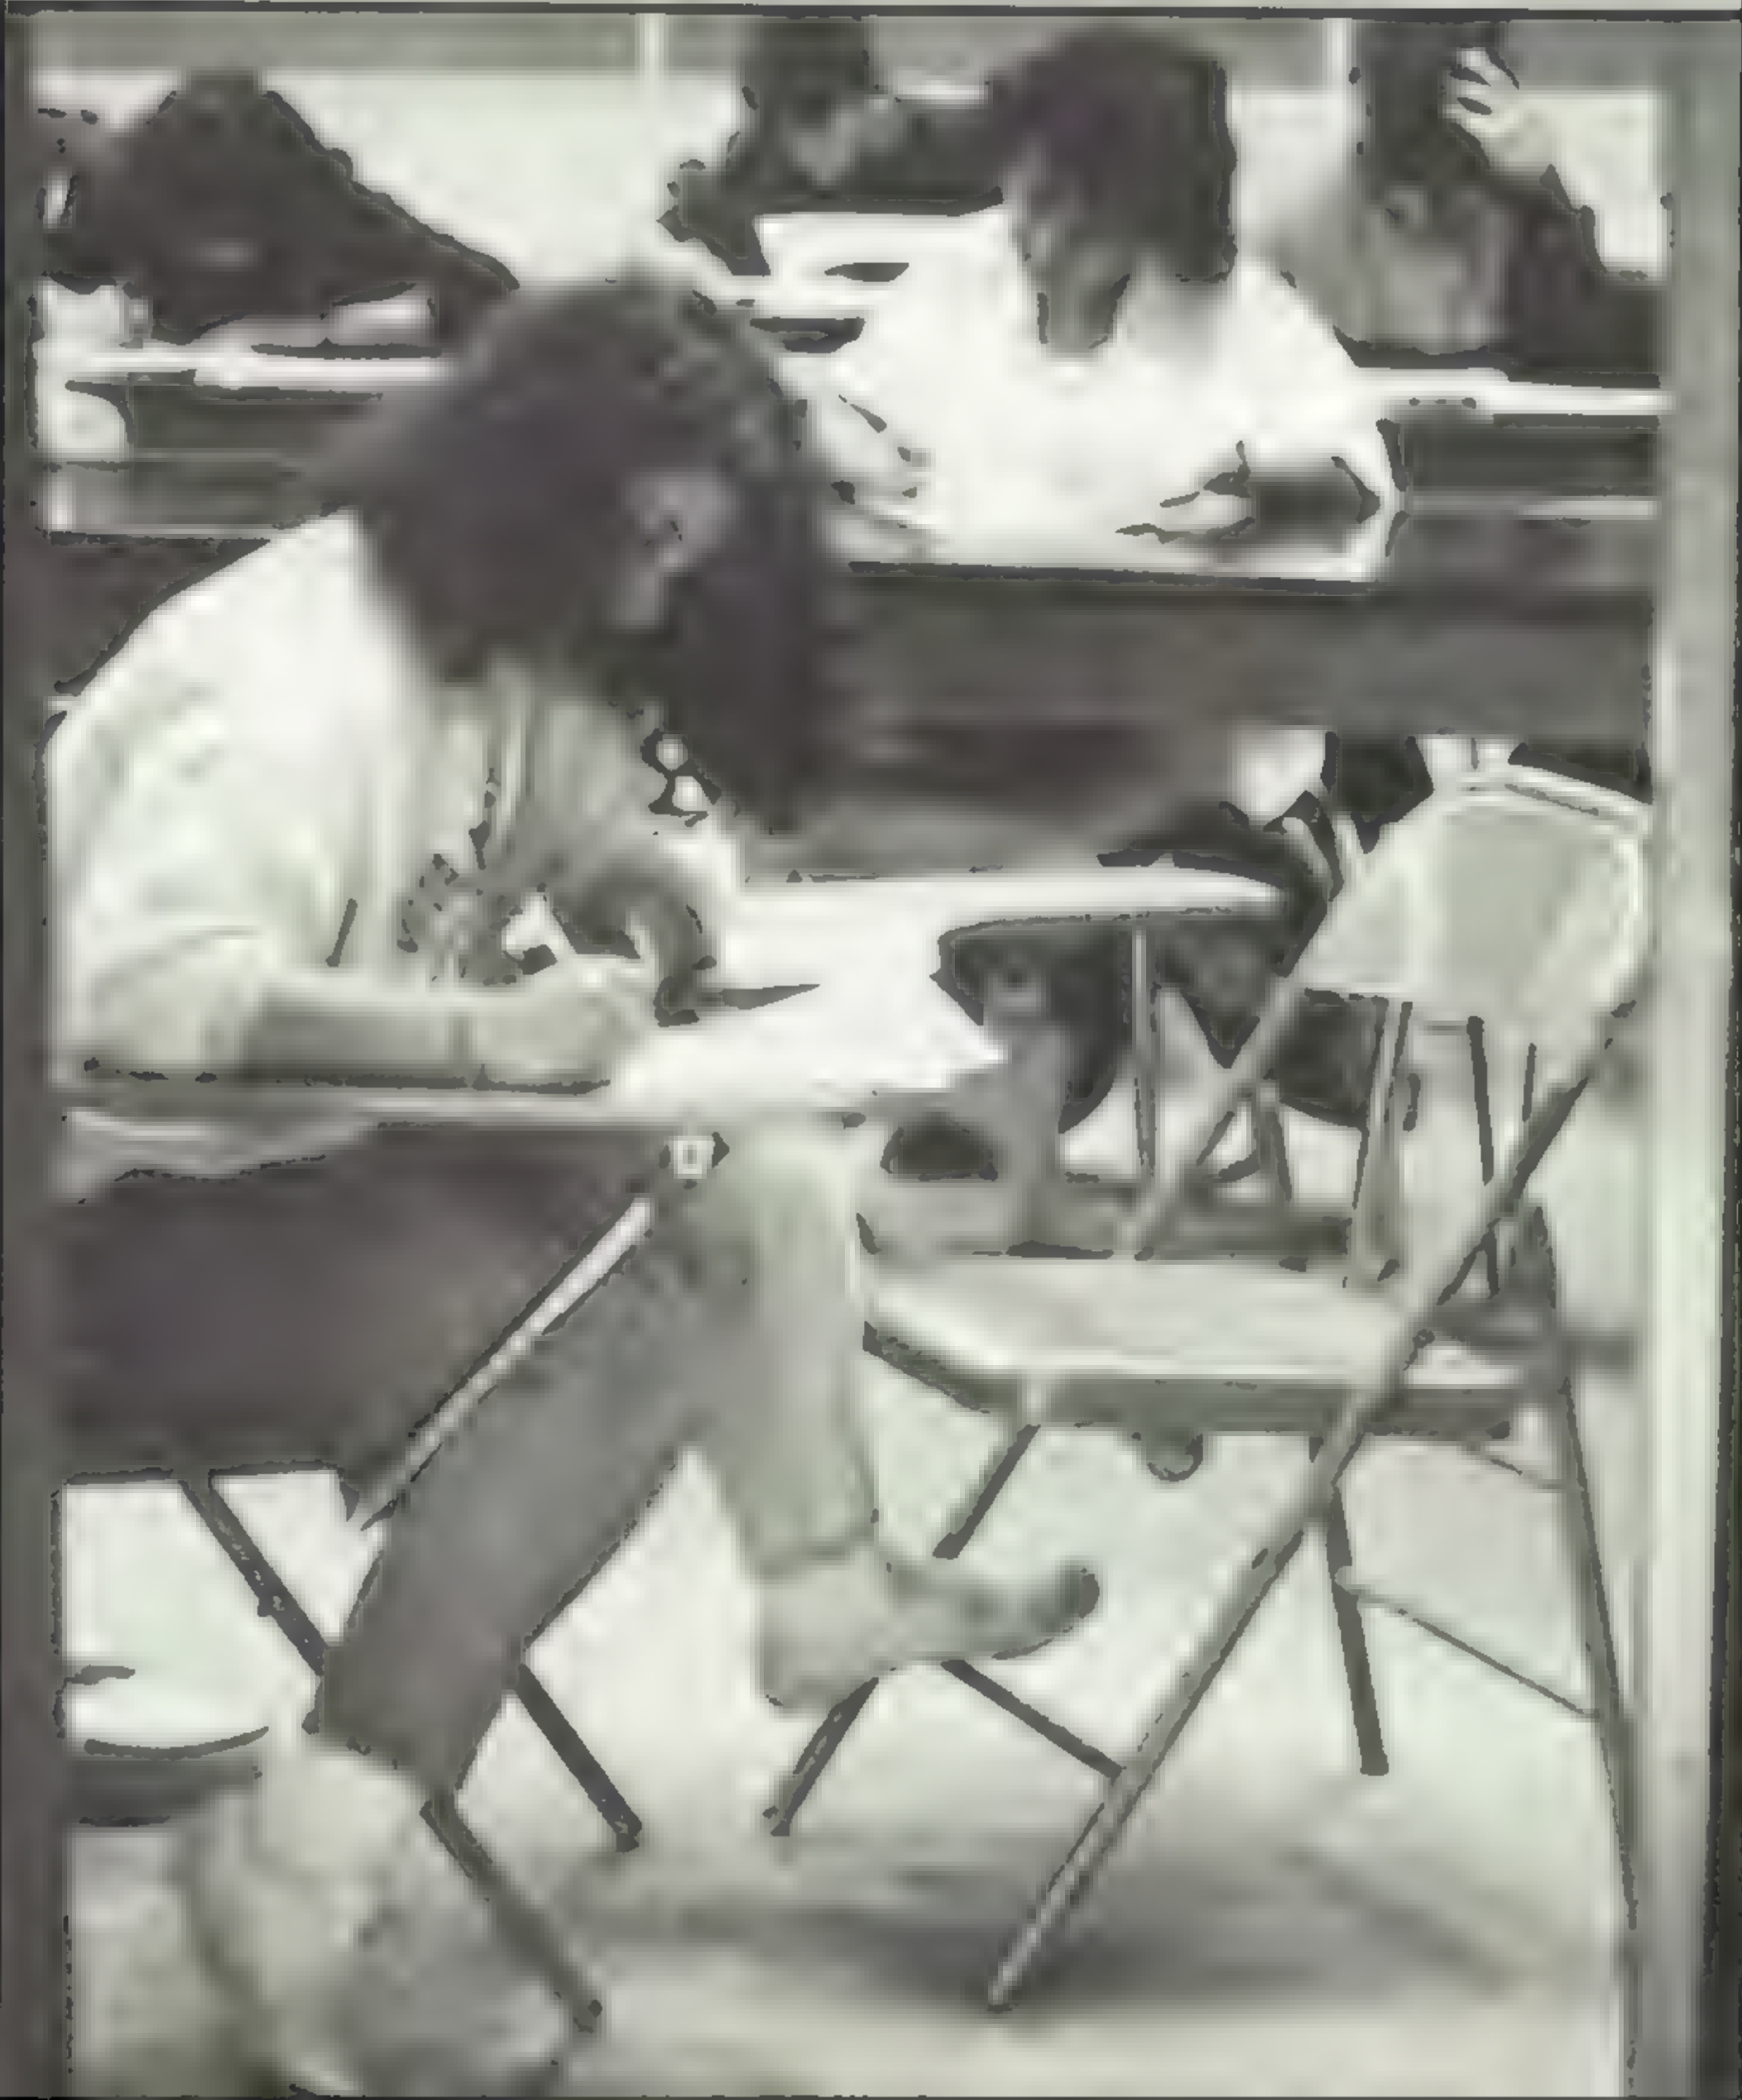

Andover Juniors have progressed very well through the years. As Freshmen they acted like Freshmen. As Sophomores they made fun of the Freshmen and as Juniors they are looking forward to being Seniors. They are facing the hardest year now, but it is almost over. They are learning and struggling everyday only because they know hard work brings rewards. The class of '88 is a dynamic Junior class and Andover is looking forward to the day when they will be Seniors. They are all truly "great and fabulous!"

“No one can make you inferior without your consent” - Eleanor Roosevelt

Opportunities in life don't happen; they are made. Everyone is made a successful human being. It is up to each person to harness his unique talents. If he is to excel, he will pay a price. Does this come easy? No, he will have to work long and hard. The sacrifice is great at first, but the longer the dedication, the more character obtained. Hard work is the building block of life. Set a goal to build a person-a person you can live with for the rest of your life.

The 1986 Varsity football campaign started out with a 28-8 victory over a weak Birmingham Groves squad. A defensive lapse that allowed Kimball to score a go-ahead touchdown with 31 seconds to play evened Andover's record at 1-1. The following Friday it was two touchdown runs by Brian Eisenberg and a dramatic fumble recovery by Paul Joshi that made the difference in a 14-13 overtime win over Ferndale. Sadly, the Ferndale game was followed by four straight SMA losses to Hazel Park, Seaholm, Troy, and Southfield. Finally, the homecoming game against Berkley offered some excitement. The game climaxed with an overtime touchdown pass to Tagg Henderson, followed by the wildest, most amazing play of the year. A fumbled extra point attempt turned into an endless scramble by Eisenberg, ending with a 40-yard bomb to Mike Keny for a 2-point game-winning conversion. In a satisfying end to the season, the Barons retained the sword with a 42-0 win over Lahser.

J.V. Football

The J.V. football team did not have as many wins as they may have deserved, with talent such as Steve Novak, Tong Suh, Danny Gordon and Jeff McCammon, they did not go without a win. The J.V. team beat Hazel Park thanks to the freshman and junior leadership by Jeff McCammon and Jim Ciliberto who were lent to the J.V. by the Varsity team. The final record of the J.V. was one and eight, an improvement from the year before. Coached by Gordy Richardson, the team has improved greatly and should be an asset next year on the Varsity.

Freshman Football

This year's Freshman Football Team, at the insistence of coaches Cuthrell and Turner, started practicing in the sweltering August heat. It rapidly became apparent that they would have an excellent season when they defeated the J.V. team in a pre-season scrimmage. Led by co-captains Kirk Guanco and Joe Miller, they kicked off the season with a victory, winning the first freshman football game in Andover history, breaking the three year losing streak. Although they suffered various player injuries, the team completed an outstanding season.

The story of this year's Boys Varsity Soccer Team goes much beyond the start of their 7-9-3 season. The team worked hard since November participated in an indoor league, played in a spring league, and spent a week at Sauk Valley Soccer Camp. They started their season on a positive note by beating a tough Cranbrook squad 1-0. At one point, Coach Tony Sakorafis' team won three out of four games. Ken Artz, Chris Maeso, and Dave Caswell contributed offensively much over this period. Late in the season, however, the team was plagued by an inability to score. Eventually, they overcame this problem and finished the season by beating Berkley 3-1. Captains Scott Fitzgerald and Chip Carrick led the team to victories and their first two district playoff games. The team ended the season by losing a hard fought game to cross-town rival Lahser 1-0. Throughout that game, as well as the season, the Varsity Barons got strong defensive performances from Jeff Couchman, Andre Guanco, Dave Stone, and Alberto Arriola. Overall, the Varsity Soccer Team played a satisfying season.

J.V. Soccer

The 1986 Andover Junior Varsity Boys Soccer Team was not a dominating force in the Southeastern Michigan Association this year; however, the players seem to have much potential. Although the team started off with a 1-5-1 record, many of their losses proved to be close. Goalies Jon Cooper and John Wolfe received much defensive help from Co-Captain Kevin Brown. The offensive play, on Coach John Farrel's well-rounded team, was led by Leighton Chen and Co-Captain Mark Rosenblatt. Overall, players on this year's Junior Varsity Team should strengthen next year's Baron's Varsity Soccer Team

Freshman Soccer

Although the 1986-87 Frosh Soccer Team did not score as many goals as it would have liked to this year, it showed much aggression and dedication to the sport. In each game, regardless of the outcome, they played and fought until the final tick vanished from the clock. Offensive player Seth Halpren helped lead the team with ten goals. While he and others scored the goals, Bob Rhein and Marc Cohen stopped their opponents' goals. No matter who scored or stopped the goals, or if the team won or lost, Coach Neil Rust was always there to guide them. He helped his players come closer to their potential and helped them with his own knowledge to become better players. Overall, we expect a positive future for the 1986 Andover Freshman Soccer Players.

For the men's golf team, 1986 will be remembered as a fine year. The team finished second in the league standings and third in the Southeastern Michigan Association tournament. Their only league losses occurred against Hazel Park and Troy, the eventual league champions. Seniors Doug Whetsell, Mike Sheehan, and Greg Geiger carried the load for the Barons, usually turning in the low rounds. The middle of the team's season was highlighted by their participation and seventh place finish in the Tri-state Invitational Tournament in Ohio. Doug Whetsell made the weekend trip a success when he fired a 74. Despite a poor showing at the regional tournament that made them miss the cut for the state tournament, the team showed their style by knocking off high-ranked opponents throughout the successful season.

The 1986 Girls cross country team ran past five of their eight opponents and to a second place finish in the SMA. The season began with summertime weight and distance training, and culminated with the feat of qualifying as a team for the state meet. The '86 girls were the first Baron team ever to do so. The top lady runners were seniors Trisha Clarke, Kristine Drobot, and Ruth Fellingham, who finished her four year career with a 12th place individual finish at the state meet.

The boys cross country squad finished 3-6 and fifth in the league. Although the team managed to defeat Ferndale, Southfield, and Cranbrook, they could not make the cut for the state meet. The top times for the male Baron runners were turned in by Mohsen Azerbayejani, Tim Parcella, and Keith Matson.

Under the coaching of Mr. Dave Balog, girls varsity basketball built a team of new recruits into a well respected team. The new members of the varsity squad (Cathy Walsh, Bethany "Banana" Weeby, Sara Otterstrom Jennifer Christy and Amanda Fishburn) have proven to be necessary to the success of this year's season. The girls improved their fundamentals, concentrated on composure and worked well on developing team morale and unity. Although consisting primarily of juniors and sophomores, the team played competitively with the league's powerhouses including Berkley and Hazel Park. Team captains Sue Hartman and Jenny Ramsey led the team through ups and downs while continuing to maintain that self-confidence necessary for a successful season.

J.V. Basketball

The J.V. team, consisting of juniors, sophomores and one freshman was constructed under the leadership of Coach Winslow, a new member to the South-eastern Michigan Association. Their skill at ballhandling and their quickness on fastbreaks established the basis for their wins. Guard Maria Pacis and forward Kris Krug worked the offense while "tower" Nicky Hauser ripped the rebounds down on the defensive end. "They played competitively all year long and never gave up. They set goals this year, and have achieved all of them," said Coach Winslow.

Frosh Basketball

The Andover Girls Basketball Program has improved tremendously with the addition of the freshmen girls. This is the first freshmen team to play in three years at Andover. This is a signal that the basketball program is on the rebound. The girls played very competitively this season under the coaching of Jean Buford who stated in pre season practice: "Well, I got two more players yesterday, not I'm up to eight. Lookin' better." This exact attitude, the willingness to build on minimal experience enabled the team to work as respected athletes on developing the fundamental skills needed to be successful. In the years to come, these girls will be the league's most talked about opponent.

The 1986 Girls Tennis Team started the season slowly by dropping three of their first five matches, but rebounded to even their overall record at 6-6 and also have an impressive 6-1 league record — good for a second place SMA finish. The only league loss was by a narrow margin to state power Birmingham Seaholm. The Baron singles line-up featured (in order of rank), Kristy Lynch, Jenny Goldfarb, Christy Rodriguez, and, sharing the duties at the number four spot, Debbie Wickham and Iris Karp. In a hard fought Regional match at Waterford Oaks, the girls barely beat out Rochester Adams for the coveted opportunity to go to Midland for the state finals. Under the expert guidance of Coach Johnson, combined with the point-winning performances of Kristy Lynch and the doubles team of Carol Hruby and Lori Travers, the team finished the season as the sixteenth best in Michigan. Kristy Lynch summed up the 1986 campaign by saying, "Because of our poor start, it was very satisfying to reach the finals and do as well as we did."

The Andover girls swim team began working in August to regain the state title that was elsewhere for the first time in the decade. The practice schedule consisted of about 22-24 hours per week, with weight and water training beginning as early as 6:15 a.m. The intense toil manifested itself in an undefeated season for the team. The most exciting part of the regular season was the weekend tri-meet in which Andover best rival Ann Arbor Pioneer. The team went on to win the SMA and Oakland County Titles, both meets they had lost in '85. The SMA meet featured Amy Charnes, who swam to three individual league records and shared one with Heather Young, Sam Wetmore, and Amy Proctor. The depth and talent of the 1986 swim team showed when Val Sarfas, Carolyn Peticolas, Jill Stallman, Heather Young, Heather Winiacki, Angie Torne, Tonya Drelichman, Diane Perella, Sarah Blake, Amy Charnes, Amy Proctor, and Rachel Zobel all swam well enough to qualify for the state meet.

The last obstacle between Andover and a perfect season was the state meet, December 5th and 6th in East Lansing. Contributions and points were provided by many swimmers - points that would all be vitally important as the closely fought meet came to an end. Andover jumped out to a quick lead with a state record-breaking swim in the 200 yd. medley relay. The members of the relay team were Val Sarfas at backstroke, Amy Charnes at breaststroke, Jill Stallman at butterfly, and Carolyn Petcolas at freestyle. Amy Proctor placed 4th in the 200 free and 6th in the 100 free. Val Sarfas was 3rd in the 100 backstroke. Andover saw the meet turn in their favor when they dominated the breaststroke. In that event, Amy Charnes placed first, Rachel Zobel 4th, Jill Stallman 5th, and Angie Torne 10th. Heather Young and Heather Winiacki both swam strong races, placing in the 500 free. Amy Charnes also broke her own state record in the 200 yd. individual medley qualifying heat and finished 2nd in the final. The meet's outcome was decided by the final relay, where a 3rd place Andover finish gave them their 6th title in seven years.

Hopes for the Varsity Basketball Team were high entering the 1986-87 season, and seemingly, with good reason. With the stability of a new coach, Rick Krisniski, and the return of seniors loaded with size and experience, the team looked ready to have a competitive season, a rarity in the last decade of Andover basketball. Unfortunately, before Christmas break, the Barons suffered losses by 5, 4, 3, and 2 points. An especially crushing defeat came at home against Hazel Park when the team lost a 12-point lead in the final quarter. The team finally got some wins with two victories over Royal Oak Kimball and one over Cranbrook, raising hopes that they could salvage the season with a district championship. The team got consistent play from Jason Campbell and Jeff Harrison, fine outside play from Loren Charboneau, poise from Ken Artz, and benefitted from the emergence of Joel Wheatley.

J.V. Basketball

Although the 1986-87 Andover Junior Varsity Basketball team started out slowly, they had much talent and desire. Commencing the season with a 0-5 record, they had much to prove. For the team to be successful, guards Ray Fregia and Chris Pero had to control the tempo and limit the turnovers.

Since the team lacked height, forwards Andy Beletsky, Darin Frank, and Brad Rosenberg had to physically control the boards. Also, to be successful, the team needed consistent scoring from top scorers Andy and Dave Fredenberg. The first game they put this all together resulted in an impressive victory over Kimball. Providing the players work over the summer, next year they can contribute substantially to the Varsity squad

Freshman Basketball

The 1986-87 Andover Freshman basketball team shows much promise for the future Andover Varsity squad. Starting off at a 2-3 record, Coach Doug Zack's team proved that they were competitive with other squads. Not only were they competitive but seemingly a favorite in most of their games. Losing three close games at the start of the year, the team showed faith in themselves and bounced back. Led mainly by Kirk Guanco, Andy Whetsell, Jason Blum, Jon Weber and Larry Morris, the team was quick and scrappy. They would give 110 percent until the final buzzer sounds. Overall, this year's Freshman basketball team leaves much to be anticipated for the future Varsity squad.

The 1986-87 Andover Varsity Hockey Team although losing more than winning, had a decent season this year. Led by Coaches John Farrel and Colin Campbell, the team recorded four victories against cross-town rival Lahser. In games against top state contenders Livonia Churchill and Wyandott, the Barons showed their defensive poise by holding Churchill to four goals and beating Wyandott. Winning mainly with tough defense, the Barons are led defensively by Chris Conti, Jeremy Olen, Ken Anderson, assistant captain Matt Kiriluk, and goalie Brad Sorock. Also the team had a hardworking, aggressive offense which was led by assistant Captain Terry George, Eric Maria, Captain John Massara, and Scott McPherson. Overall This year's Varsity Hockey Squad was complementary to Andover's rich hockey history

Although the 1986-87 ski season never reached its goal, the team managed to have top finishers. The team was led by captains Anthony Derrico and Kristen VanMeer. The skiers went through a very intense dry land exhibition that consisted of running, bleachers, people slalom, and many other vigorous exercises. Throughout the season there was never a dull moment, on the bus and off. All the Andover Racers reached new goals, aside from that, they enjoyed a fun filled season, and should be congratulated on their dedication and hard work.

BOYS SWIMMING

TRYING TO STAY ON TOP

The 1986-87 Mens Swim Team entered the season with a rough task-to repeat as champions for the state. The goal was a realistic one, seeing that the Barons were loaded with talented and dedicated people, many of which had state meet experience. The team started off by winning two relay meets at Rochester and Troy. The team easily swam by interior league foes such as Ferndale, Seaborn, Hazel Park, and Kimball, on their way to another SMA title. The highlight of the regular season, however, was the unexpected ease with which they beat rival Ann Arbor Pioneer and Ohio champs, St. Francis, in a tri-meet in which Andover fans were treated to some of the finest high school swimming in the midwest. With Steve Pancratz dominating the freestyle events, Charlie Chung winning the breast stroke, and transfer star Jason Sciciliano diving the way he can, the team looks prepared to repeat as state champs.

The 1986-87 wrestling team experienced a mixture of success and failure. They recorded dual meet victories over Seaholm, Berkley, and, by an extremely wide margin, Lahser. The highlights of the season were mostly provided by the two captains, Jeff Ross and Joe Lash. Both Ross and Lash now hold spots on the all-time Baron wrestling record boards as a result of the outstanding seasons. Ross won the Baron Invitational Tournament in his 100th career victory. He also advanced to regional competition by winning his district. Senior Dave Abbo was also a standout for the Barons. Although the intense training and starvation did not produce a lot of victories, the program appears to be in good hands under Coach Drake, Coach Reynolds, and the younger wrestlers returning for the next season. Jeff Wirthlin gave his appraisal of the season by saying, "We were hurt by having to forfeit at some of the weight classes. Those matches aside, we wrestled well-especially against Lahser."

GIRLS VARSITY VOLLEYBALL

*BUMP, SET, SPIKE,

The girls Varsity Volleyball team has gotten a new start this year Tracy Jones, a member of the girls volleyball team at Oakland University, joined the Andover coaching staff. The girls have improved tremendously in their fundamental skills and can serve more consistently than the year before. The seniors gave a fine performance and will be greatly missed. The remainder of the girls played their best and look to improve their record in the years to come

J.V. Volleyball

The Junior Varsity Volleyball team went through the same change as the Varsity this year. Kelly Williams, from the girls volleyball team at Oakland University, took over the job of coaching this young team. They learned all the fundamentals and became a strong unit. With all of these players either playing last year or being new this year the team had a lot to learn. They progressed well throughout the season and ended up working very well together.

Freshman Volleyball

Freshman Volleyball has only been at Andover for four years but has been well received. Coach Jean Buford's unique style of coaching for example, switching the captains periodically, has kept the team spirits high. Everyone played and the team's effort showed. The practices everyday were long and hard, but fun for the team. The team's record was respectable and the players should be proud.

VARSITY CHEERLEADING

CHEER TO VICTORY

Under Maggy Zidar's supportive coaching, this year's Varsity Cheerleading Squad kept up a long-standing tradition of dedication and excellence providing the Baron's basketball and football teams with enthusiastic support throughout their seasons. Led by Co-Captains Debby Moretsky and M.V.P. Stephanie Kane, the 1986 Squad was an especially dedicated group of girls. Two of their unique experiences were cheering at a Detroit Lions football game and dancing with Seniors from the Varsity football team at a pep assembly. Probably the best characteristic of these 14 dedicated girls was their always cheery attitude. Whether our team dominated the game, or lost a heartbreaker, there was always a smile on each girl's face. Though the 1986 Cheerleading season will be remembered by the entire squad, it will especially be remembered by the Senior Cheerleaders.

1. Cheryl and Stephanie, flying high
2. A fabulous mount at the pep assembly
3. Tracy Goode, cheering with a smile
4. The girls take a well deserved break to pose for a picture.
5. Andrea and Stephanie cheer for the Barons

J.V. Cheerleading

The J.V. cheerleading squad held tryouts last spring. Approximately twenty girls tried out, but only nine girls made the team. Our J.V. cheerleaders are not only proud and supportive of their football and basketball players, but of their school as well. This year the girls went to a regional competition and received a rating of excellent. They are coached by Lisa-Anne Tomei who has done a very good job with the girls. The J.V. squad is always peppy and contributes to the success of the J.V. sports of Andover.

Frosh Cheerleading

The moment finally arrived, the nine freshmen cheerleaders were chosen. What a thrill it was when they called Shelli, Jill, Stacey, Andrea, Tong, Jackie, Tara, Michelle and Mary as the 1986-87 cheerleaders.

Then came the hardest part, practices were not quite what they had expected them to be; they were time consuming and took much hard work. The results were well worth it! Not only had they learned the true meaning of cooperation and responsibility, but they had established nine lasting friendships.

1. Stacey showing a lot of pep and spirit in her smile. 2. "I was voted Most Valuable Player." 3. Hard work pays off at the assembly, great mount girls! 4. Go Barons!

Pom-Pon

The Andover Pom-Pon squad showed a great deal of spirit throughout the 1986-87 school year. The season began with arduous practices in the hot July sun to prepare the teams for summer camp competition. Other than winning several ribbons and gaining the most spirited award, the squad learned new skills to entertain Andover fans at football, soccer, and basketball games. The twenty girls made a terrific squad and contributed to making a sensational season.

Gymnastics

The 1987 Girls Gymnastics Team grew from four gymnasts last year to six highly talented gymnasts. Their flexibility, balance and coordination awed their audience. They performed with great skill and grace numerous front walk overs, back bends, back hand-springs, cartwheels, jumps, leaps and somersaults. Andover wishes the best of luck to these future Olympians!

S E N I

Flight always begins at the lowest level, where it is only possible to rise. The ascention, which may be long, hard and slow, can only be successful after the mind has learned to pursue its boundaries. Those who understand the insignificance of limits will quickly rise above the clouds but those who glide with the currents will go nowhere. Flying into the wind enhances the true thrill of accomplishment and provides endurance for the thinner air near the peak. If one learns speed, accuracy, skill and determination, eventually one can spread his wings and soar into the future.

Farewell

Soon, with the simple adjustment of a tassel, we will be initiated into the real world. In the past four years we have shared our lives. We have seen each other mature and grow into responsible people. We have seen each other in the halls for 740 days, and at parties on 210 Friday nights. We are a part of one another's memories. And now we must say goodbye, a goodbye that may be forever.

School Year

Why do I do this? I know that when the lunch bell rings, and the school empties of Seniors, we will surge to the parking lot, and create a situation like Orchard Lake Road in rush hour. Throwing my books onto the back seat I will slam down the gas pedal and head toward the nearest fast food convenience. After searching for a place to squeeze my car, I will sprint into the restaurant and holler my order at the waitress, then glare at her in frustration when it takes 10 minutes to prepare. Knowing that 6th hour starts in a scant 7 minutes, I will head stuffing my food down as I rush to make the lights. All of this activity will, of course, result in a stomach ache 6th hour. Teachers are not prone to giving passes to students who wish to find Alka-Seltzer. Oh, oh, there goes the bell, do I go to Arby's? Olga's? Burger King? Decisions, decisions, decisions. Being a Senior can really be tough.

The morning of February 19 was a time filled with excitement and anxiety for TRAUB scholarship participants: Beth Allen, Nora Bucher, Lynn Candela, Timothy Eckert, Dana Greenburg, Scott Riggs, Peggy Ho, Shannon Howell, Amy Montgomery, David Patton, Maria Pope, Kathleen Rhew, Karen Sachs, Jessica Shapiro, Victoria Tuchow, Lauren Tur-etsky, Vanessa Yeokum, and Karen Yoo. These seniors displayed special proficiency in the realms of art and music. This scholarship was established in the memory of Robert C.J. Traub in order to encourage the cultivation of artistic talents. Applicants who have exceptional abilities in the fields of art and music are considered relative to their outstanding character, personality, and other personal qualifications. This year's winners were Maria Pope and Victoria Tuchow. They were given the option of spending a month in either Europe or Asia. Andover high is very proud of them and wishes them the best of luck in the fields that they have chosen.

Baronitis

Andover's school spirit has been defined as awful, non-humorous, uncaring, but most of all, non-existent. We at the Hillcrest call this state Baronitis. To show that there is still some school spirit, and that some people do still care, we have dedicated this page to some of the people who still have Andover spirit left in them. We know that there are more of you out there that we have not been able to represent.

Practices

'Oh coach, not again!' These words ring throughout the gym, pool, track, football field and baseball diamond as the athlete pushes himself to the limit. These rituals, called practices, are physical torture to better the athlete for that week's win or loss. Every sport at Andover demands a lot out of every single athlete. Andover sports are well recognized throughout state. Our students work hard to fit sports into their schedule. They put up with old school uniforms, crowded facilities, and irregular practice schedules. Andover's coaches are very demanding and will not tolerate absences from practice. Many of them demand at least 2 days a week of weight room time from all athletes. Many practices start in the mid-summer in the 80 degree heat, or in the winter and fall where temperatures might reach the freezing point. For all the athletes who have put in a hard day's work, this one's for you!

A D V E R T I

It is very hard to think of things to say on a division page. We debated telling you about the production costs of a yearbook, and the people who advertised with us. We could tell you about the effort in making this book or the process involved in printing a 272 page publication. We could discuss our theme, but if you do not understand it by now, it's too late. We could say a few more corny things or comment on politics and life in our time. Finally, we decided to encourage you to patronize our advertisers. Please patronize our advertisers. We would also like to thank them for their support.

THE HISTORY DEPARTMENT SCHISM CLUB

SCHISM CLUB ON THE RISE!

Do you know the difference between a guelt and a ghibbeline? If so, you are probably a member of the schism club. The schism club was developed by two A.P. European students, Jeff 'Rasputin' Harrison and Matt 'Caigula' Von Ende, out of a need for a large history club at Andover. Quickly, a large, tightly knit unit of students rose from the masses to band together, thus firming up the central organ of the schism club. The club met periodically during the year in order to tackle the long and hard units dished out by Mr. Keith Johnson, their figurehead, himself an honorary member. The members also met often on the weekends in order to schism (brainstorm) about upcoming units. The club was named after the historical 'great schism' of 1378-1417. The membership thought this was a shockingly long schism until Mr. Johnson explained that there were three popes involved. So if you see an A.P. history student clad in the trademark black t-shirt, look for the thick and weighty textbook under his arm. You then can be certain you are dealing with a schism-club-member.

1. The club logo. 2. A few of the members gather around their favorite substitute, Mr. Basel. 3. Mr. Johnson gestures to one of the absorbed countries... or possibly further to Rasputin's home. 4. His divine basconia strikes a pose. 5. Mr. Johnson nods off during a dull moment.

Now,
For
The Real World

Nothing Gold Can Stay

*Nature's first green is gold,
Her hardest hue to hold.
Her early leaf's a flower;
But only so an hour.
Then leaf subsides to leaf.
So Eden sank to grief,
So dawn goes down to day.
Nothing gold can stay.*

-Robert Frost
